

Dear Education Specialist,

Please consider adding Lit League to your curriculum resource list. I am interested in purchasing activity boxes from this vendor as soon as possible. More information on Lit League (litleagueboxes.com) follows below.

Lit League offers book-themed activity boxes for kids ages three to twelve. Each reading adventure is designed by a team of educator moms who believe that an appreciation for literature can be fostered, cultivated, and extended through joyful educational activities. Lit League's activity boxes can be delivered monthly, purchased as stand-alone units, or bought in thematic bundles of multiple boxes.

Each Lit League unit uses literature as the central component for teaching across various subjects. In addition to a variety of language arts activities, boxes might include materials for math, science, art, and/or engineering activities, which are all connected to the box's featured book.

Designed to foster a love of reading, each Lit League box includes:

- a high-interest picture, early chapter, or chapter book
- a title-specific vocabulary bookmark
- discussion questions and answers to support recall, build vocabulary, nurture reading comprehension, and encourage imaginative and critical thinking
- picture book boxes included thematic instructions for physical play
- 5+ age-appropriate activities related to the book and aligned with national learning standards
- instructions for implementation and differentiation before, during, and after reading each title, giving homeschool parents the tools and strategies needed to complete our educational lessons
- suggestions for 4 to 5 additional enriching extension activities
- additional thematic reading suggestions that can be used to build out a larger unit
- the tools to enjoy a shared family experience or participate in a book club with friends

Lit League has been featured on homeschool and parenting blogs and magazines such as Hello Subscription, Parenting Magazine, and The Utah Homeschooler. Lit League was also featured on ABC's affiliate station WWZM as part of a segment highlighting outstanding products for supporting at-home learning. Lit League has won both the National Parenting Products Award and Family Choice Award for their exceptional activity boxes.

Thank you for considering adding Lit League. Their products would greatly benefit the families within our homeschool community.

Sincerely,
